

Over 40 years ago Piero Raschella, being the patriarch of the family business, pioneered the use of the modular system for kitchens by being one of the first to introduce this system to Australia. Still being used today the industry has undergone many changes and evolutions and we have been proud to be at the forefront furnishing many thousands of homes throughout Australia with new kitchens.

Having received many industry awards over recent years, we are constantly striving to be better, always looking ahead to new trends and manufacturing techniques.

Recent years has seen us specialize in the more detailed and intricate work requiring greater workmanship skills and organization. We have our own production plant adjacent to our display showroom allowing us to oversee all aspects of the kitchen build, essential for this type of high-end work. Unlike many others, we do not merely “order in and assemble”. In addition to this, you can be comforted by the fact that the design process is translated faithfully by going straight to production, not having to go through many channels as others do when ordering in.

We know that kitchen renovating can be daunting for many so we try to make it as fuss free and enjoyable as possible by co-ordinating trades such as electricians, plumbers, plasterers, tilers etc if required. We can also organize your glass splashback and in most cases are asked by our clients to co-ordinate their stonework.

Whether you choose the clean lines of our ultra modern styles, contemporary pastels or the warmth of solid timber, maximising your kitchen space is our number one priority. Our space creating designs and accessories will prove the right design solution for you and your family.

Feel free to browse through our extensive display during opening hours where staff will be able to answer general questions. If you would like to come in with your house plan or measurements to discuss your particular kitchen in detail, please call us and make an appointment to receive our fully qualified attention. For a modest fee we can arrange an in house consultation, followed by a plan view drawing and design by a qualified kitchen designer.

Our warm and personalised approach leading to a stunning result will leave you in no doubt as to why everyone tells their friends about their new “Magic Kitchen”.
